It was also decided that members of the board who do not attend practice regularly will be requested to send an agent to play without regular practice.

Thursday's train left Calgary on time but did not reach Edmonton until Friday morning at five o'clock. The delay was caused by the breaking of a flange on one of the driving wheels of the locomotive. The break occurred between Innisfail and Red Deer. The danger of derailment was too great to warrant the train proceeding, and it was laid up at Red Deer until another engine came from Canmore to bring the train through. There was not a large number of passengers.

The Western World for December has a view of the town of Edmonton from The Office, and a photo of P. Ottewill cutting grain, with three oxen on a binder. Also a number of letters from settlers in the Edmonton district giving their opinions of its advantages.

Nos. 4 and 5 of Rube Allen's Western Winks, have reached the BULLETIN office. The paper is published in Winnipeg twice a month and is a fairly creditable attempt at a comic paper. Its chief interest is in its cartoons, drawn by J. H. Holby, late of Regina. They show a very large share of artistic talent.

J. A. DAVIDSON, M. P. for Beautiful Plains, recently elected leader of the opposition in the Manitoba legislature, is a brother of W. W. Davidson, general agent in Alberta for the Massey-Harris company. Mr. Davidson visited Edmonton in the fall of 1876 and in conjunction with J. A. McDonald, purchased the trading post of Johnstone & Carey at Lesser Slave lake. Mr. Davidson intending to settle at Edmonton. He afterwards changed his mind, and the post was sold to Stohart & Co. Mr. Davidson is now a prosperous merchant of Neepawa.

The Winnipeg Commercial mentions that the practice of giving chattel mortgages on growing crops has grown to such an extent in Manitoba as to seriously disarrange the grain trade. At the last session of the Northwest assembly an attempt was made to remedy this evil as it exists in the exclusively grain growing districts of the Northwest, but the provisions do not go nearly far enough; only declaring invalid a mortgage given before the crop is planted, and even then excepting a mortgage given for the price of the seed to be sown.

The Western World for December has a statement of the German colonies in the vicinity of Edmonton. Hoffmann on Stony Plain has 85 settlers, 800 acres under cultivation, 365 cattle and 35 horses. Heimthal is the name of the Rabbit hill settlement where there are about 60 families who have 600 live stock. Josephburg, in the Beaver hills east of Fort Saskatchewan has 45 settlers, 1,000 acres under cultivation, 600 cattle and 24 horses. East of Leduc station is a new settlement established this year of about 50 families. At Wetaskiwin is a settlement of about 30 families.

The municipal elections in Calgary on Monday last resulted in the election of W. F. Orr by 24 votes over W. H. H. H. Orr received 214 votes, Cushing 220, a total vote of 164. The candidates are A. L. Cameron, Jas. Rasmussen, Alex. Loewas, J. E. Jacques, J. A. Nolan, B. J. Hutchings, J. S. Fisher, A. McBride, T. Underwood. The defeated candidates are E. Watson, Jas. Reilly, W. H. Lee, H. Douglas, W. Mahoney, J. H. Millward, T. E. J. Creighton, F. J. Claxton, Messrs. Reilly and Douglas were candidates in two wards. The school election held at the same time resulted in the election of A. Allan and S. McComb, and the defeat of T. B. Braden and N. J. Lindsay.

FURTHER particulars as to the supposed disappearance of Dan Macrae from his mining camp up the river have been received. Macrae was not living on his claim on the north side of the river but considerably further up, at the Big Island, about twelve or fifteen miles from town on the south side, where he was drifting or tunnelling under the bank for pay dirt. The route by which the Big Island is reached lies through the Stony Plain Indian reserve, and Macrae was well known to the Indians from his passing back and forth through the reserve from his claim to town. About the middle of November an Indian who had some business with Macrae went to where he was mining at the Big Island and found his shanty open, and the owner absent. Evidently he had been there the night before, as the fire had not been out long and the remains of breakfast and cooking were lying around. The Indian waited about three hours at and around the shanty for Macrae's return and shouted for him, but got no answer. He did not go to the place where Macrae was mining but saw it at a distance. At last he left the place and went home. About ten days after he went again and found everything just as he had left it at his previous visit, no sign of the owner having returned in the meantime. About a month after, or a few days before New Year's he made another visit, and found everything in exactly the same state, with no sign of the owner having visited the place in the meantime. He made enquiries but no one had seen Macrae since his first visit to the shanty in November.

BAPTIST CHURCH OPENING. The formal opening and public dedication of the new Baptist church edifice in Edmonton will take place next Lord's day, January 28th. Rev. H. E. Wise, the popular pastor of the Baptist church in Calgary is expected, together with the local pastors, to assist pastor McDonald in the services. The opening services may extend into the week through Monday and Tuesday evenings, to give all the neighboring pastors an opportunity to participate. Pastor McDonald's regular appointments for South Edmonton, and Poplar lake school house, will be suspended for the occasion, and all are cordially invited to attend, to participate in, and add to the interest of the services. The program of the opening services will be given more in detail in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

CIVIC AFFAIRS.

The council recently elected, which holds its first business meeting on Wednesday night, assumes control of the civic affairs of the town for the current year on a footing widely different from that of the first council, and differing considerably from that of the second. The first council necessarily took office with a clean sheet as far as liabilities were concerned, but with certain improvements immediately required. The second council found a certain amount of valuable improvements completed, to pay the cost of which a portion of the credit of the town would have to be pledged. That council pledged the credit of the town for the payment of the liabilities so incurred, and at the request of the ratepayers still further pledged its credit for purposes of fire protection. The present council finds street improvements and fire protection to a large extent provided, and with certain fixed charges upon the revenue of the town in respect thereof to be met. These fixed charges include interest and sinking fund on debentures already issued to the amount of $32,840.50, and on a floating indebtedness which on the 31st December, 1893 amounted to $14,361.25, or $47,201.25. How much of the floating indebtedness will be paid out of the unpaid balance of the taxes of 1893, which would appear to be about $5,000, will depend very much upon the good management of the new council. Supposing that the floating indebtedness is so reduced that the total amount for which interest and sinking fund will have to be provided is not more than $40,000, that means that something like $3,000 will have to be provided annually out of the taxation of the town until these debentures are cleared off. To this must be added about $3,000 a year for salaries, and gratuities of various kinds. Taking the taxation of last year as a basis, this means that one-fourth of the civic revenue is taken up in absolutely fixed charges, and another fourth in salaries which must be considered as practically a fixed charge, leaving only half of the total revenue to be disposed of by the council. Or indeed not half, for the amount payable to the Edmonton school district is also a charge outside the control of the council and therefore a fixed charge as far as it is concerned. This being the condition of affairs it is to be hoped that the new council will look the matter squarely in the face and confine current expenditure to available current revenue. Instead of reckoning on a revenue of say $12,000 to be disposed of they should consider that only half that sum is available, unless our standing liabilities are to be increased or unless taxation is to be made higher. In regard to an increase of taxation there is only one thing to be said. Taxation is necessary in order that we may have street improvements, sidewalks, fire protection etc., and as long as it is moderate will be cheerfully borne and will be no hindrance to the prosperity of the town, but if taxation becomes burdensome, if people get the idea that their money is not spent to good advantage that they are not getting value for it—investors become shy, the disadvantages of business are increased and land values are injured. It is not the business of a council to run the government of the town without taxation, but it is its business to keep taxation as low as the requirements of the place will permit, and at all events keep it below the point at which it becomes a detriment to business or to property. In order that taxation may be kept down by the refusal to incur indebtedness. The course adopted by the new mayor and recently elected council of the city of Toronto in this connection is worthy of all commendation. That is, at the first meeting of the council the rate of taxation was struck, so that the amount of revenue for the year will be known right from the start. A mark is thereby set to which the council may work but beyond which it cannot go without the express sanction of the people. This is a business like way of transacting the civic business and should be generally adopted. The country is full of men with grand schemes to work a municipality—and especially an ambitious and growing town—for the dollars, the results to the projector being small but immediate and to the town large but indefinite. This town has enough on its hands at present to occupy the attention of its councillors and to absorb its revenues. Let the council fix the revenue for the year and then work out the immediate and proper business of the town to the limit of that revenue.

A serious charge upon the current revenue, and yet one that must be borne, is to keep to a point of efficiency the elaborate and expensive fire protective service now in the possession of the town. We have an excellent engine, a substantial and commodious fire hall, a good hook and ladder apparatus, and a system of fire tanks. But unless men are kept ready for service, teams on hand when wanted, the tanks kept full, and new ones provided as required, the elaborate apparatus is of no value. To keep up an efficient fire department is one of the duties of the council, and it cannot be done without expense. All the citizens can ask is that the service be efficient and that no money be wasted. In this connection it must be kept in mind that if there is a fire department of a certain standard of efficiency it will be possible to secure a certain reduction in insurance rates. On behalf of the business community this should be kept steadily in view.

Another matter that should receive the attention of the present council is that of a right of way to the present ferry or probable bridge crossing. When the bridge that we have expected so long is actually commenced will be a poor time to start to secure a right of way to the bridge site; and nothing would have a stronger effect in securing the location of the bridge where the interests of the town require that it should be placed than the immediate location of a right of way.

But the great question to be considered during the current year is that of railway connection. We have already delayed too long on this important matter. The advent of the railway even to its present terminus has benefited Edmonton greatly. But with every year we see more clearly how much greater the advantage would be to be right on the line. The railway or direct connection without transhipment by means of electric railway, is what this town needs and is all that it needs and to secure that the remaining credit of the town should be carefully reserved and every energy of the new council be exerted. Interlocked with the railway is the bridge question. The one involves the other to a certain extent, but if we build the railway the government cannot longer refuse to carry out its oft repeated promises regarding a bridge.

THE BULLETIN Printing office is second to none in the Territories. Only first-class type, machinery and paper employed. Printing of all kinds done promptly, neatly and cheaply. Call and see samples of work, and get prices before ordering your printing elsewhere.

A newspaper is not a producing industry, but if properly conducted it assists and stimulates production and progress more than any other single agency of like cost. Money spent towards the support of a newspaper is almost entirely spent within the town in which the paper is published and is therefore not lost to the business of the town.

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

Support your home paper liberally if it deserves support, so that it can give the best possible impression of your town and district as a field for immigration and investment.

There is big money for a new town in having a live and interesting paper.

MIXED FARMING.

Winnipeg Commercial: "No doubt the advice to farmers to diversify their operations as much as possible, is right from a general standpoint. There is a great deal of jumping about going more into stock; but many of those who advise raising more stock do not stop to think that it requires time and money to get into stock on any scale. The farmer must have considerable holdings before he can go into stock, and buildings are expensive in this country. Then he must have money to make a start with in stock, and as the most of our farms are only small in stock on a very small scale, owing to need of buildings and the expense to buy seed stock, it will take years to make the country a heavy exporter of stock. Altogether the progress made in stock raising is perhaps quite as great as could have been expected. Then as to wheat there is a great deal of talk about too much wheat being grown here. Now, what would the Manitoba farmer grow instead of wheat? If he had more stock he would grow more feed grains to consume it at home, but in the absence of stock, wheat is a more profitable crop than feed grains. There is no other soil and climate of this country as wheat, and certainly no other grain which can be produced as profitably for export."

The above is quoted from the Commercial to set forth clearly the reasons why at present settlers prefer the Edmonton district to Manitoba. Being forced to adopt mixed farming they find at Edmonton a country where timber with which to erect shelter for cattle can be had in abundance for nothing, where the necessities of water and hay are also abundant, where the coarse grains and roots suitable for feed are even better adapted to the country than wheat, and give larger proportionate returns. Mixed farming is the most profitable kind of farming and the Edmonton district is better adapted for mixed farming than any other in Manitoba or the Northwest, hence the preference shown for it.

THAT BANQUET SPEECH.

The report of the speech which the Hon. T. M. Daly did not deliver at the Toronto board of trade banquet, as published in the Empire, contains the following allusion to the Edmonton district:

"I have said but little of the gifts that nature has lavished on Northern Alberta, since I have omitted to speak of the truly magnificent stretch of country lying between the Red Deer and Edmonton, and in and about Edmonton. The cold, clear streams, and rich and luxuriant grasses make the country a paradise for cattle, and in addition to the large number of cattle and horses which range in southern Alberta, in Northern Alberta large numbers of cattle are raised, but more for dairying than for beef purposes. The splendid market afforded in the mining districts of the Rockies and Selkirk, and the demand for dairy produce in British Columbia give the farmers of Alberta an unlimited sale for their products."

Considering the nature of the allusion and the fact that it is the only one contained in a speech occupying over three columns of the paper, of which over one column is devoted to closely packed statistics relating to Manitoba, another to British Columbia and the third to rambling allusions in which Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia are mingled indiscriminately, it would appear that this part of the country did not lose much by the unceremonious shutting off of Mr. Daly's wind. If the part of Mr. Daly's speech alluding to the Northwest is the best he can do after a personal inspection of all its parts, it shows either that he lacks interest in the Territories, or ability to convey the information he has acquired, quite in contrast with his intimate knowledge of Manitoba and its affairs. As to the nature of the gathering to which Mr. Daly addressed himself, the Empire says:

"Though instituted only four years ago, the annual banquets of the Toronto board of trade have come to be events fraught with provincial, yea national interest and importance. They form the occasions of the meeting together for the country's weal of the representatives of the Dominion and local governments, and the leaders in the various branches of the trade and commerce of the land. Thursday night's banquet—the fourth in the history of the board—proved an unworthy successor of three which have preceded it. The great company of 500 and odd guests which surrounded the festive board, was composed of men who have made their mark in the world of trade—able financiers, merchant princes many of them."

When Mr. Daly threatened this assemblage with the displeasure of the people of the Northwest if they did not hear him out, he forgot for the moment where he was, and thought he was addressing a gang of ward politicians about 45 miles back of Brandon. He should have remembered that the same kind of bluff only works the same way when the circumstances are similar.

The Calgary Herald thinks that at the board of trade banquet in Toronto, Hon. T. M. Daly "did his duty in refusing to permit a subject of importance like the Northwest to be tabooed, and every Northwest newspaper irrespective of politics should come out in his defence." In regard to the above the BULLETIN takes the liberty to remark, "Different here." Giving Mr. Daly full credit for having the interest of the Northwest at heart the BULLETIN was therefore willing to let his mistake of judgment pass in silence; but when it comes to justifying a mistake of judgment made by the accredited representative of the Northwest, by which mistake discredit is thrown upon those whom he represents—that is the people of the Northwest—it is a different matter. Enthusiasm in a good cause is a good thing but when a man holds a position in which judgment is required as well as enthusiasm a lack of the former is as culpable as of the latter. The fools have done this Northwest more harm than the knaves—or perhaps it would be better to say that the knaves could not have done it nearly as much harm if it were not for the fools.

SUPREME COURT JUDGMENT.

Judgment was received last night in the case of Taylor vs. Kaiser and Benz, tried at the October sitting of the court in Edmonton. The action was brought by E. W. Taylor of Toronto, who had an execution against Kaiser, to set aside a chattel mortgage of $2,000 given by Kaiser to Benz, both of whom were in the case. The plaintiff, Taylor, is a resident of Toronto, Ontario, and the defendants, Kaiser and Benz, are residents of Edmonton, Alberta. The following is a copy of the judgment:

GENERAL NEWS.

Taxation of Grand Forks, North Dakota, this year is 6 cents on the dollar. In Winnipeg it is nearly 2 cents.

A case of small pox occurred recently in Barrie, Ontario, and the patient was shipped to Toronto.

The coroner's jury who investigated the case of the burning to death of John Gilman and his three daughters in their shanty near Nicola, B. C., returned a verdict to the effect that the burning was accidental.

Black diphtheria and scarlet fever combined have been making serious ravages in Oak River settlement near Rapid city. A citizens association of Rapid City has called upon the local government to establish a strict quarantine.

Jos. Martin, M. P. for Winnipeg, addressed a liberal convention at Moosehead, Assiniboia, on January 13th. Mr. Martin gave a series of able arguments in favor of tariff reform and concluded by a eulogy on Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the liberal party.

Helonine, southwestern Manitoba, now rejoices in a flowing well of water. The well was abandoned some months ago at a depth of 2000 feet. The great flow of water into the well has probably been induced by the pumping out of the small quantity originally in it.

Kendall's Sentinel: A good thing may not be available on all seasons. Hon. Mr. Daly had very instructive speeches to give the guests at the Toronto hotel of last night, but he was not there. Had he said nothing, and said it cleverly, he would have made more friends.

The Prince Albert Times wants a normal school session held at that place. It says "owing to the action of the council in this matter, some teachers from this district who could afford it, have been forced, in order to save their positions, to entail the expense of attending the session now being held at Regina."

The Nelson Tribune says: For the week ending December 30th, the Nelson & Fort Sheppard railway has forwarded 267 tons of ore, viz., 60 tons from the Noble Five group, 120 tons from the Washington, 37 tons from the Danlanes, 29 tons from the Rico, and 10 tons from the Mountain Chief—all Sicuan mines.

A company of filibusters is being organized in Vancouver, B. C. to aid in the restoration of the Queen of the Sandwich Islands. There are now 160 on the roll. Most of the men are ex mounted police and volunteers. R. Smart, son of ex attorney general Smart of Manitoba, is said to be the organizer assisted by S. Simpson. Evidently they have talked too much to make their project a success.

Almost the first act of mayor Kennedy and the new council of Toronto was to reduce the salaries of civic officials from 5 to 20 per cent and to fix the rate of taxation at 15 mills on the dollar. Last year the rate was 17 mills. The usual practice has been to wait for estimates before fixing the rates. It would seem that the new plan is far more sensible if economy is really intended. For with the amount of revenue fixed expenditures must be brought within it. As long as the amount of expenditure is fixed according to demands made taxation will be high.
